Managing Clothing Sensitivity During Recovery

Following penile treatments or procedures involving skin sensitivity, everyday clothing frequently causes friction and discomfort. Many individuals discover that a smoother, more supportive garment, such as Catchfords Recovery Briefs, helps avoid contact with regular fabric and makes the healing process feel significantly more manageable.

Why Patients Use Them	When Patients Choose Them	What Patients Experience
Sleep support at night	Penile treatment recovery	Maintains privacy
NonFriction™ textiles	Irritation or friction flare-ups	Returning to work/school
Discreet fit under clothing	Procedure recovery periods	Fewer sleep interruptions
Reduced intolerance downtime	Underwear feels abrasive	Easier mobility
